STAFF BIOGRAPHIES: MEET MARIANA OCHOA

Why hello there! My name is Mariana, and it's okay if you can't say it in your head because most people can't even say it out loud. I've wanted to work at a library for a while now mainly because I love being surrounded by books. When I was growing up, my safe haven was the library. I loved checking out comic books, chapter books, and movies for free! I have no idea who came up with the concept of a public library, but now that I work in one, I can find out using the databases and what-not and thank them!

I'm currently enrolled in college where I'm studying psychology. Since I'm a great listener and give pretty awesome advice, I figured becoming a psychiatrist was the way to go. Do you know they make around $70,000 a year? That, my friends, is a great perk! So is helping people become the best person they can be, which is what I will be doing in 10 to 12 years... I love to listen to music in my spare time. I'll listen to anything, except hardcore metal and Taylor Swift. Don't ask me my favorite book because I can't name just one. I like to bake and though I've been told I'm a terrible cook, that doesn't stop me from cooking. I like long walks and my favorite kind of date is April 25th because it's the perfect kind of weather. Props if you get the reference!

E.T. The Extraterrestrial

FAMILY MOVIES THIS OCTOBER

Family Movies: We offer family movies on Monday nights at 6:00 p.m. and Saturday afternoons at 1:00 p.m.

E.T. The Extraterrestrial (10/3 & 10/8) A story of an alien stranded on Earth and his relationship with a young boy.
Goosebumps (10/10 & 10/15) A teenager teams up with the daughter of young adult horror author R. L. Stine after the writer's imaginary demons are set free on the town of Madison, Delaware.

Hocus Pocus (10/17 & 10/22) In the year 1693, sisters, Winifred, Mary and Sarah were executed for their unforgivable witchcraft. Just before their execution, Winifred made a curse - a curse that when a virgin lights the black flame candle on Halloween night, in their house, they shall return. 300 years later, Max decides to light the candle in order to scare his irritating sister Dani and his love interest Alison. Now, the three Witches are back ready for a night of fun, magic and horror in the now modern town of Salem.

Monster House (10/24 & 10/29) A group of kids discover that a neighborhood house is actually a monster. To solve the mystery of the house they must go inside it, before it takes everyone that crosses its path.

The Wizard of Oz (10/31) This is the timeless 1939 classic.

READING TO BABIES

You wouldn't wait until your baby started forming words and sentences before talking to him or her - so why hold off introducing the joys of reading to your little one? Although most of the positive effects become evident as the child reaches toddler and pre-school ages, many of the important influences are forged during infancy. By reading to your new baby regularly, you'll be helping to build a foundation for lifelong learning and development.

While it may seem that a newborn or infant won't get much from books at first, development experts agree that the first year of a child's life is a highly influential time, during which he'll learn the basic sounds and concepts that will serve as the building blocks for cognitive development.

There are numerous benefits from reading time:

Bonding: When you share a book with your baby, she'll enjoy hearing the comforting rhythm of your voice, feeling your heart, and smelling your familiar scent. Over time, she'll come to associate books with close, intimate time with Mommy or Daddy

Early Language Skills: It may be a while before your baby begins vocalizing words and phrases, but that doesn't mean early reading sessions aren't important. By hearing you read aloud, your little one is exposed to the vowels, consonants, and syllables that form his native language.

Cognitive Stimulation: A baby's developing brain can be likened to a blank canvas, ready to be painted and shaped by the millions of sensory experiences she'll be presented with during the first year of life. The colors, textures, and sounds in books will help accelerate your baby's mental growth and awareness of her surroundings.

More Restful Sleep: Reading to babies can be a soothing, comforting activity but don't be surprised if it takes a few sessions before you and your little one get into a rhythm with the right books and the right routine. By incorporating calm, unhurried reading into your little one's nighttime routine, you'll be helping to set the stage for a restful night's sleep.

STAFF RECOMMENDATIONS

Flush by Carl Hiaasen.

Noah and his family love nature. So when his father finds out that the casino boat, The Coral Sea is polluting the ocean with human waste, Noah's dad flips and sinks the boat. While his father is in jail, Noah and his sister come up with a plan to show that their father is not guilty and that the Coral Sea is polluting the ocean. In the book we learn about the importance of family, the need for anger management, and the importance of standing up for what is right the right way. This book is written for Young Adults, but will be enjoyed by the adults as well.

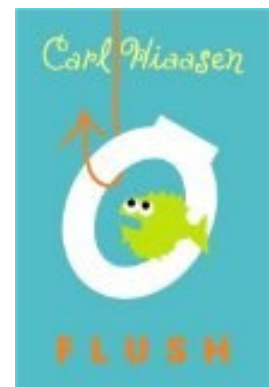

Tales from the Crypt (Season 3): Tales from the Crypt was a short film television series that was produced by HBO and syndedicated across the United States in 1980's. Each story is bracketed visits from the Crypt Keeper, an animated character who brings some humor to the grotesque, morbid, or horrific stories in the series. This series is great fun for those who grew up in the 1980's. Fans of horror and B movies will also enjoy these shorts. Even if you are not a natural fan of these shorts, many will enjoy spotting stars. My wife and I noted Michael J. Fox, Whoopi Goldberg and many more stars will be found on this volume.

It Sings in the Hi-Lines by Kerry Grombacher. Kerry Grombacher is the epitome of the cowboy troubadour. He travels the country singing stories about those who live on the margins of life. When he appeared at the South Sioux City Public Library on September 1st his manner was one of a country gentleman, whether he was speaking to fans or casual on-lookers. His songs span the highways of Montana to the places where persecuted minorities hid from the Spanish inquisition. He celebrates the bison and other legends of the Old West. Lovers of Western Music or True Country will enjoy this recording, which is available on CD at the library.

You may not know it, but Freegal Music has audiobooks in the public domain. If you like Charles Dickens and Ernest Hemingway you will find these among many genres of music on Freegal Music <http://southsiouxne.freegalmusic.com/index>
