A UNIVERSE OF STORIES

A Universe of Stories is the theme for the 2019 Summer Reading Program. We have activities and reading challenges for all age groups. The staff and Library board would like to challenge the adults to see who could read the most during the months of June and July. Note you get one point for each book or audiobook you read and two points for each program you attend.

The Matney Sisters Live @ the Redbird Café will take place on Monday night, June 10th at 7:00 p.m.

The Matney Sisters have been singing country and gospel music together since they were children. They have taken their harmony throughout the Midwest, appeared on both Nebraska and Iowa Public Television, the Iowa State Fair and were selected by the Smithsonian Institution to perform at the Festival of American Folklife at the National Mall in Washington, D.C.

UFOs over the Heartland: On Monday June 3rd, at 6:30 p.m. we will discuss the history of UFO sightings in Nebraska and the Siouxland area.

Library Advisory Board Meeting is on Wednesday, June 5th at 5:30 p.m.

Cookbook Book Club presents Breads on Thursday, June 13th at 6:30 p.m. To participate bring your special bread, the book or magazine it came from, and an ingredient list for those with allergies.

Universe of Stories Reading List.

JUNE IS ADOPT A RESCUE CAT MONTH

June is Adopt a Rescue Cat Month

American Humane celebrates Adopt-A-Cat Month® each June – a month that also marks the height of “kitten season,” when millions of kittens are born and often end up in animal shelters.

The feline population increase fills animal shelters across the country each June with cats and kittens who need a home. In honor of Adopt-A-Cat Month®, American Humane and Zoetis Petcare are celebrating all things feline and encouraging pet lovers to consider giving a cat a forever home. Visit the American Humane site for more information <http://www.americanhumane.org/initiative/adopt-a-cat-month/>.

The screen was moved to its current location at the Superior 71 Drive-in. They show double features on the weekends until summer when they transition to being open 7 nights a week. They do not allow outside food at the Superior Drive-in. www.superior71drivein.com

ONE BOOK ONE NEBRASKA: THIS BLESSED EARTH

This Blessed Earth Written by Ted Genoways. This Blessed Earth asks the question, is there still a place for the farm in today's America? The family farm lies at the heart of our national identity, yet its future is in peril. Far from an isolated refuge beyond the reach of global events, the family farm is increasingly at the crossroads of emerging technologies and international detente. Ted Genoways explores this rapidly changing landscape of small, traditional farming operations, mapping as it unfolds day to day.

Cover to Cover will discuss this book at a later this year.

The following are some read-alikes for This Blessed Earth.

- The self-sufficient life and how to live it: the complete back-to-basics guide by John Seymour (630 SEY)

- Mini farming : self-sufficiency on 1/4 acre by Brett L. Markam (635 MAR)

- Mapping the farm : the chronicle of a family by John Hildebrand (977.6 HIL)

READING TO BABIES

You wouldn't wait until your baby started forming words and sentences before talking to him or her – so why hold off introducing the joys of reading to your little one? Although most of the positive effects become evident as the child reaches toddler and preschool ages, many of the important influences are forged during infancy. By reading to your new baby regularly, you'll be helping to build a foundation for lifelong learning and development.

While it may seem that a newborn or infant won't get much from books at first, development experts agree that the first year of a child's life is a highly influential time, during which he'll learn the basic sounds and concepts that will serve as the building blocks for cognitive development.

There are numerous benefits from reading time:

Bonding: When you share a book with your baby, she'll enjoy hearing the comforting rhythm of your voice, feeling your heart, and smelling your familiar scent. Over time, she'll come to associate books with close, intimate time with Mommy or Daddy

Early Language Skills: It may be a while before your baby begins vocalizing words and phrases, but that doesn't mean early reading sessions aren't important. By hearing you read aloud, your little one is exposed to the vowels, consonants, and syllables that form his native language.

Cognitive Stimulation: A baby's developing brain can be likened to a blank canvas, ready to be painted and shaped by the millions of sensory experiences she'll be presented with during the first year of life. The colors, textures, and sounds in books will help accelerate your baby's mental growth and awareness of her surroundings.

More Restful Sleep: Reading to babies can be a soothing, comforting activity but don't be surprised if it takes a few sessions before you and your little one get into a rhythm with the right books and the right routine. By incorporating calm, unhurried reading into your little one's nighttime routine, you'll be helping to set the stage for a restful night's sleep.

Healthy Expression and Communication: Through exposure to engaging, interactive reading experiences, babies will be better equipped to relate to those around them and process their own emotions.

STAFF RECOMMENDATIONS

A Tree Grows in Brooklyn by Betty Smith. This book is a modern classic, catching life in Brooklyn in the first two decades of the 20th century. It is controversial because of some of the language, but there is nothing that should keep a reader from enjoying this book. It is a great coming of age novel. (FIC SMI)

The Strange Case of Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde by Robert Louis Stevenson. Jekyll and Hyde are characters that have been portrayed and their stories retold by everything from animated shorts to feature films. This is both readable and listenable, as it is available in audiobook from Overdrive. Rather than the usual caricature, this book takes a long look at human nature. It will stir a discussion in any family or book group. Stevenson is a pleasure to read. (Overdrive Audio)

How to Get Rid of a President by David Priest. Since November 2016, various parties have sought to depose the current President of the United States. Thankfully, their efforts have been within the peaceful to this point. David Priest takes time in this book to explore the various methods used by presidential opponents through the centuries. One of the first Presidents discussed is the Presidency of John Tyler. He ascended to the Presidency due to the death of his predecessor William Henry Harrison. At this point in history, the Constitution and precedent had not decided that the Vice President would automatically become the President. They go on to discuss the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, as well as the death and near death incidents of Presidents produce a process for replacing a President at times when the President cannot do his duties. This book is extremely listenable (I listened to the audio version of the book). Chapters are divided by the ways to try to replace a President. The book moves quickly through the brief narrative chunks. This is a history that is relevant to current events. Highly recommended.
