The South Sioux City Public Library is here to provide all the services you may need during this time. Learning doesn't have to stop because children are not in school. There are plenty of things you can still do to keep yourself and the kids entertained while staying at home.

Exercising

With the gyms closing and our exercise routines needing adjustment, why not try something new. You can work out at home with our workout DVDs, or look up new exercises in a variety of our sports and fitness books.

Cooking and crafting

Now's a great time to learn a new recipe, or to teach the young ones a family recipe. The library is trying out a new database of thousands of International recipes that you can download immediately and try at home.

Playing

Learn a new game, rediscover some old ones. You are still able to check out books to learn magic tricks, brain teasers, and games to keep everyone amused for hours.

Learning

Still worried about their school education? The South Sioux Schools have a learning plan to take you through the rest of the school year.

Reading

TumbleBooks has offered their databases of eBooks and math books for our library until Aug. 2020! Take advantage of these wonderful free books for all ages!

The South Sioux City Public Library is also offering Temporary Access Cards that you can sign up for online, if you do not have a library card already.

Sign up for the library's newsletter "Beyond the Stacks" for more information about services and programming.
